RIVER FLEET MAY RELIEVE OIL SHORTAGE

Creation of Vast Towboat System Studied to Aid East Coast Areas

PLAN TERMINALS NEAR PITTSBURGH

OPM Asks River Carriers To Make Survey of Equipment

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, June 19.—A veritable parade of powerful snub-nosed towboats pushing tank barges the 2,000 miles from the Louisiana oil fields to the upper Ohio river may be created to help relieve the threatened oil and gasoline pinch on the Atlantic coast resulting from a shortage of sea-going tankers.

From some point just this side of the Allegheny mountains the oil would be transported by rail, truck, and pipeline.

Ask River Carriers' Aid

As part of a program now in its formative stage, well-posted river men disclosed today, the Office of Production Management and the Defense Emergency Council has asked river carriers' organizations in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys to make a voluntary survey of all available floating equipment.

"The proposition is on the fire," was the comment of Capt. O'Slack Barrett, president of the Mississippi River System Carriers' association. "The only question is availability of floating plant. If the boatyards can get priority on steel and other materials, they will build more barges and towboats as long as there's need."

Yards all along the Ohio are building tank barges as fast as they can get material, and terminal facilities are being expanded at some points.

As outlined at present, the program would call into being a vast fleet of oil tows, some operating through the intracoastal canal from the Texas oil ports and more from the huge refineries at Baton Rouge, La., up the Mississippi and Ohio to some point in the Pittsburgh area.

Monongahela Terminals Suggested
One possibility discussed is putting terminals up the Monongahela river, which, with the Allegheny, forms the Ohio at Pittsburgh and is "just across the mountains from the Atlantic coast." Some river men believe, however, it would be better to stop the tows at Wheeling, W. Va., and Steubenville, O., so as not to congest further the Pittsburgh district. The Monongahela, tapping the West Virginia coal fields, has the heaviest traffic density of any river in the world.

At the terminals the oil would be pumped into storage tanks and then into railroad tank cars, trucks, or into present or new pipelines crossing the mountains. There is one crude oil line with a capacity of 17,000 barrels a day running east from Ohio to near Lancaster, Pa., across the divide, and three gasoline lines flowing west.

River men declared that a recent proposal to build a new pipeline from the oil fields to the east coast.

Secret Weapon

Robert A. W. Watt

This is Robert Alexander Watt, Scottish scientist who is credited with the development of Britain's secret war weapon—a "radio location" that spots approaching planes miles away. The device is given much credit for winning the battle of Britain last fall. The radiolocator is "on duty" 24 hours a day. Watt began working on the electrical phenomenon in 1935.

BRITAIN ASKS TECHNICIANS

United States Invited To Send Volunteers To Man Radios

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The United States, already credited with possessing aircraft apparatus superior to any in use abroad, was invited today to contribute volunteers to help man Britain's similar "radiolocator" device.

The American apparatus, according to Brigadier General George V. Strong, former chief of war plans, apparently is "far in advance of any similar equipment available to any of the belligerents abroad." The aircraft spotting devices adopted by the army, members of congress have been told, are effective at well over 100 miles, piercing fog and darkness to give defending fighters at least 15 minutes warning of the approach of hostile aircraft.

Build Warning Stations

With such devices already in large-scale production, the war department has started construction of a string of fixed and mobile warning stations in both the United States and defense outposts.

Full details of the British device, which has played a prominent role in discouraging Nazi raids on England, have been turned over to the United States long ago. American technical and military experts have made reciprocal contributions.

The British have started a drive to enlist "at least" 13,000 skilled American civilians for a technical corps.

The most visible feature of Britain's "radiolocator" was said to be towers about 237 feet high, spaced about 10 miles apart along the English coast. From these towers, a curtain of radio waves is transmitted continuously into space.

Waves "Bounce Back"

Whenever a plane approaches from the continent, it necessarily passes through these waves at some point.

When a plane enters a wave sector, radio energy in the waves strike it and "bounce" back toward their point of origin, which may be one or more of the radio towers.

Dedicated electronic instruments detect any wave thus reflected. Hence, every time a plane passes through a curtain, a detector registers its presence, and the beam intercepted locates the invader.

NEW ALARMS OF WAR RING OUT OVER EUROPE

Little Finland Suddenly Calls Reserves, Speeds Military Plans

RUSSIA CARRYING ON MOBILIZATION

British Announce Gains In Syria, Moving Up On Damascus

(By Associated Press)

Europe rang with new war alarms today. Little Finland, defeated by Russia's Red armies a year ago, suddenly called up reserves at midnight and sped other military preparations, and simultaneously travelers reported that Russia was carrying out "frantic mobilization" across the border from Finland.

The Finnish government, placing the nation on a virtual war footing, sharply curtailed civilian train traffic to facilitate military transport.

Finnish army and navy cadets are to be graduated immediately, it was announced, to become lieutenants in the nation's fighting forces.

British Report Gains

CAIRO, Egypt, June 19.—The British command announced today that "important positions have been captured just south of Damascus" in the British-Free French siege of the Syrian capital.

The Middle East command's daily war bulletin also announced that Allied troops in southern Syria had recaptured Kunetra, while "strong Vichy forces in Merdjayoun have now been surrounded."

These two towns, southwest of Damascus near the Palestine border, had been seized by a French counter drive which held up the Allied advance.

In the Merdjayoun area the French said their attacks had carried them at some points to the Palestine border.

An authoritative source said the French defenders of Damascus apparently had rejected a British demand for surrender.

Reuters (British news agency) earlier had reported that General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, British commandant for Palestine and Trans-Jordan, had broadcast from Jerusalem an ultimatum calling upon the French to surrender by July 15.

LEVY IS PROPOSED BY HEALTH LEAGUE

LONDON, June 19.—Trustees of the Columbiana County Health League, meeting last night at the Hotel Wick, advocated a levy to raise funds to combat tuberculosis. In the event that action is taken, the county commissioners will be asked to file the issue with the county election board so that it may be placed on the August 12 ballot.

Dr. Guy E. Byers of Salem, president of the group, was in charge of the meeting.

U. S. Asks Britain to Give "Safe Conduct Through Blockade"

[BULLETIN]
BERLIN, June 19.—Germany tonight asked the United States to remove all consular and American Express company employees from Germany, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, occupied France, Serbia and occupied Greece not later than July 15.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The United States has requested Great Britain to assure "safe conduct" through the blockade of all German consular officials in this country, it was learned authoritatively today, as the first move in carrying out President Roosevelt's order that they depart by July 10 because of acts "inimical to the welfare of this country."

The obligations, as well as the interests, of the United States are that the German officials be safely transported to their homes, it was explained, and not be permitted to transfer their operations to Latin American republics where Axis-inspired activities already exist.

The state department's prompt action in undertaking to arrange for "safe conduct" through the British blockade was described in informed quarters as presaging a flat rejection of the German government's protest against the White House order.

Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles provided a broad hint yesterday that the German protest would be rejected when he said he had informed Hans Thomsen, the German envoy, it would be given consideration.

At the same time, however, the undersecretary disclosed that arrangements were already under way for the departure of an estimated 125 consular officers and employees in 24 American cities on the ground they had engaged in "activities wholly outside the scope of their legitimate duties" and "of improper and unwarranted character."

SENATE'S COOL ON MERCHANT ARMING

Roosevelt Statement That Plans Are Ready Draws Fire

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The senate showed distinct coolness today to the idea of arming American merchant ships against submarines, several legislators declaring that such a move would invite Axis attacks.

The discussion was predicated on President Roosevelt's statement that the United States had plans in complete readiness for arming her merchantmen. Mr. Roosevelt was replying to a question regarding the torpedoing of the Robin Moor, and his words were considered a hint that the necessary orders would be issued if developments warranted.

Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.) told reporters he questioned the effectiveness of arming merchant vessels.

One of the 11 senators who blocked arming of United States ships before the nation entered the World war in 1917, Norris said that arming ships "would not give them much protection."

"Even President Wilson admitted that it did not work during the World war," he added.

Real Bargain In London--Shrimpy Peaches 75c Each

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, June 19.—The coming of warm weather and ripening of fruit brought some rare bargains in London's crowded markets today.

One store had a shelf of peaches which a Georgia grower wouldn't bother to send to market and the price was 75 cents each.

"Yes, sir," said a clerk. "We've sold quite a few. There's nothing like a fresh peach, you know."

Lots of strawberry-knotty little specimens—were on display at another store for sale at $3.80 a pound.

STIFF SURTAX LEVY LOOMING

Ways, Means Committee In House Decides On Increases

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 19.—The house ways and means committee decided tentatively today to recommend drastic increases in surtaxes on individual incomes and to tighten up on corporation excess profits taxes so as to raise an estimated $2,480,900,000 in additional revenue.

The new individual income surtax schedule was said to more than double the tax bill of every taxpayer.

Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) announced the committee had voted tentatively to adopt an individual income tax program providing for imposition of surtax rates beginning at 5 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income and graduated up to the present maximum of 75 per cent. The latter rate starts on net incomes above $5,000,000.

Doughton disclosed the committee also gave tentative approval to a special 10 per cent excess profits tax recommended by the treasury and designed to reach the excess profits made under war contracts.

The special levy, Doughton said, was estimated to yield about $65,000,000.

LISBON, June 19.—One hundred seventy-five people gathered in the Presbyterian church here last night for the annual Farm Bureau banquet. Dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

Also on the program were group singing, led by Mrs. J. N. Baker, and a reading by Barbara Byers of Homeworth, accompanied by Marjorie Grimes.

A trumpet and baritone duet by Glenn and Curtis Coe, Fairfield township, and vocal selections by Marilyn and LaVerne Hahn, Homeworth concluded the entertainment.

Nazi Attack Rumors Heard In New Crisis

Open Break Between Berlin and Moscow Looms; Nazi-Turkey Treaty Gives Hitler More Favorable Position

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 19.—A new stroke of German diplomacy left Soviet Russia virtually isolated today, added fuel to reports of a crisis in German-Russian relations and even gave rise to rumors that Nazi troops actually had attacked the Soviet frontier.

Informed British circles agreed that all signs pointed to the possibility of an open break between Berlin and Moscow and that the friendship treaty which Germany signed yesterday with Turkey had placed Adolf Hitler in a powerful position to enforce his will upon Russia.

They regarded with skepticism, however, roundabout reports from Turkey that Germany or Rumania had served an ultimatum upon Russia and that Nazi troops had fallen upon the Soviet border at 15 points.

Whatever the basis for the rumors, it was considered here that there was ample foundation for the belief that Hitler is steadily applying pressure to Russia to gain economic concessions vital to Germany's war plans.

Dispatches from Ankara reported that German air squadrons along the Rumanian-Russian frontier had been heavily reinforced and Nazi circles in the Turkish capital were quoted as saying frankly that "all signs point to war with Russia."

Nazi Demands Hinted
Diplomatic circles in Ankara said they had no direct knowledge of any German-Russian negotiations, but it was common belief there that Germany had demanded the entire exportable surplus of the Ukraine grain crop and direction of the Soviet railways, oil industry and vital mining enterprises.

Such demands, if granted, would make Russia virtually an economic vassal of Germany, these sources said. They expressed belief that Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin was playing desperately for time while massing his Red army to meet the threat of German troop concentration along his frontier.

Yugoslav military and diplomatic attaches who left Moscow recently when Russia withdrew recognition of their refugee government were quoted as saying that Stalin had admitted to them that a German invasion might come during the summer.

Stalin was quoted as saying that his army would be ready by August and that "the enemy will get hit in the face."

Istanbul Version
Istanbul correspondents of AFI (Independent French agency) gave this version of reported German demands upon Russia, according to Reuters, British news agency:

1—That Bessarabia and northern Bucovina, the provinces which Russia acquired from Rumania a year ago by ultimatum, be returned to Rumania.

2—That Germany be permitted to occupy the rich Ukraine "for the time being."

3—That Austria "liberate" Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, the Baltic countries which she has annexed, and that she withdraw her troops beyond a line of demarcation to be fixed by Germany.

4—Partial demobilization of the Soviet army.

The same source said that four or five German divisions, supported by a large concentration of German troops, were massed in the Rumanian province of Moldavia opposite Russia's Bessarabian frontier.

Turks' Isolation Protects Nazi Flank Against Soviet

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, June 19.—Temporarily substituting lightning diplomacy for blitzkrieg, Adolf Hitler has neutralized Turkey in the present conflict by binding her with Germany in a 10-year non-aggression and mutual consultation pact.

Engineered by Nazidom's smooth-talking, trouble-shooting diplomat, Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, the friendship treaty became effective when signed unexpectedly last night in Ankara by Von Papen and Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu.

Protects Nazi Flank
(Ankara dispatches said the accord in effect protects the reich's flank against attack in the event of a Soviet-Russian-German conflict and was reached with the full knowledge of the British and United States ambassadors, who conferred with Saracoglu.)

Informed quarters in London, who apparently were apprised in advance of the pact, interpreted it as an effort to isolate Soviet Russia in increasing tension between Berlin and Moscow.)

The pact bound the two countries to respect each other's territorial integrity, "not to undertake any measures aimed either directly or indirectly at the other treaty partner, and to settle any differences or problems affecting the two countries through friendly consultation."

Coupled with it were two protocols looking toward promotion of trade and improvement of press and radio relations. The press treaty was especially welcome in Berlin because Turkish newspapers have been a source of irritation to German officials.

"Turkish newspapers in the past frequently showed none of the insight which responsible leaders of Turkish policy never lacked," said Deutsche Diplomatisch-Politische Information, a commentary close to the foreign office.

Bomb-Shell Effect
The conclusion of the treaty had a bomb-shell effect comparable only to the German understanding with Russia which preceded the outbreak of the war and informed quarters expressed belief it would influence the course of the war just as de-

AS HAS BEEN SAID BEFORE

Contraband, as the Robin Moor incident has made plain again, is anything that might help the enemy fight a war and that means everything.

The Robin Moor carried a cargo that resembled the commodities listed in a mail order house catalogue. Aboard the ship was a little of almost everything used in the civilized world.

According to United States standards, however, there was no contraband. The question of what is and what is not contraband is decided by the side with the upper hand, unfortunately.

In modern warfare, virtually everything under the sun may help an enemy fight a war, from bombing planes to tooth brushes, from high explosives to milk of magnesia. Supplies for an enemy, whether or not they are of a military nature, are contraband because they make life for the enemy more bearable.

The destination of the Robin Moor was South Africa, an ally of Great Britain in the war. Everything aboard the ship would have made some slight improvement in the war effort of the population of South Africa. Thus, according to German standards, everything aboard the ship was contraband. If the ship had been bound for Germany and had been destroyed in the British blockade, there would be no quibble about the contraband nature of its cargo; there seem to be no grounds for quibbling because it was bound for South Africa, instead. In fact, the only revelation in the whole affair worth making an issue of, things being as they are, is the possibility the raiding submarine may be traced to the double-dealing government at Vichy.

JUST SHUCKS

The fevered excitement roused by rumors of trouble between Germany and Russia seems to be finding few converts among Americans. This is an interesting symptom.

Americans are supposed to be pushovers for European diplomacy. They enjoy a reputation for being tireless suckers. It is traditional that they can be fooled times without number on the same trick.

They have admitted, themselves, that they were at a disadvantage when old world diplomats started proving the hand is quicker than the eye. But lately the diplomats have seemed to be getting clumsy. Americans feel, for the first time, that they know what is happening.

Perhaps professional wrestling helped them catch on. In professional wrestling, two toughs whose bread is buttered on the same side, pretend to be trying to maim each other. Superficially, they are shockingly angry. Murder seems to be only a matter of minutes.

Actually, they understand each other perfectly and are putting on a show for the suckers. That's what Americans are inclined to think is happening between Germany and Russia. It's possible they really are bent on mutual destruction, just as it's possible two professional wrestlers might so far forget themselves as to turn destructive. But it's not probable. The standard American response to all news of ferocity in Russo-German relations will continue to be, "Shucks." Neither party to the deception is in any position to incur the other's wrath.

CHANGE IN TACTICS

Surmises that one more rear-guard action might jerk popular support from the Churchill government, or at least bring on some cabinet changes, are being temporarily suspended. In Syria and now in Libya, British forces have taken the offensive. They may be turned back, there still may be rear guard actions, but Mr. Churchill as the master strategist of the war effort cannot be excused of letting the enemy take the initiative.

It is reported that the Axis has prepared a major offensive of its own in Libya. In Syria there are signs that the fighting comprises more smoke than fire, but there is evidence that it, too, had been marked for another British defeat. For what it may mean, the word "offensive" has reappeared in connection with something initiated by the British.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, June 20

A RATHER pleasant and progressive day is presaged by the interesting but not powerful chain of planetary aspects. There may be much stirring about in promoting business relations as well as in connection with social, domestic, artistic and emotional aspirations. There may be travel, change as well as a voluminous correspondence in such pursuit, as writings of a finer order are under excellent stimuli for expression. This should prove lucrative one way or another. Friendship figures happily.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much happiness and as well a certain modicum of progress and profit. Business as well as personal ambitions are fairly stimulated and friendly, with the social, emotional and higher aspects of living under happy auspices. There may be travel, change and much in the way of correspondence. Writings of a higher nature, concerning art, drama, romance, mystery fiction and kindred effort should be lucrative.

A child born on this day should be versatile, artistic, with outstanding literary or musical talent. It will be socially inclined, popular and friendly.

PRESSURE ON RUSSIA

Hitler has calculated and timed the German-Turkish treaty of "friendship" on that it will add the greatest possible weight to his military pressure on Russia. The effect on Britain is not so immediate, although the treaty is, of course, intended by the Nazis as a war policy weapon in their long-range strategy against the British in the Near East.

The treaty closes the last effective route by which western aid might conceivably reach Russia, at a time when Germany seems to be telling the Soviets that they must either enter into a state of economic, political and military subjugation or fight an enormous concentration of Nazi troops from the Baltic to the Black sea. It shuts off the air bases from which British planes might attack German troops in Russia. The Black sea already is so fringed with German air power that it would be a trap for the British fleet.

The Turkish pact permits Germany to begin the familiar process of infiltration and domination of Turkey; to weaken Turkish resistance in preparation for the day when the reich may find it convenient to use Asia Minor as a military road to Syria and Suez.

Britain is not surprised, nor are there any illusions in London about the treaty's escape clause which on paper permits the continuation of the Turkish-British alliance. This treaty, negotiated almost exactly two years ago, pledged France, Britain and Turkey to help each other "in case of an act of aggression which might lead to war in the Mediterranean region." But the pact went into a state of coma with the fall of France, which was to have supplied and equipped Turkey, and very shortly thereafter Turkey made it plain she would not fight unless attacked.

Hope nobody overlooked the dandy little black-face item which told of the Rome newspaper's appeal to our Deanna Durbin "to save America from Roosevelt's dictatorship." For such a heavy assignment, why pick on this happy bird, singing in honeymoon lane?

Among the things that never seem to go down in history are the statements made by fighters before they meet in the ring.

When practicing crows hops over water Hitler's troops will do well to avoid Dunkirks.

VITAMIN STARVATION CASES RARE

Average American Gets Plenty, Says Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The last two days we have reviewed the subject of the vitamins, those chemical elements which are present in foods in small quantities but are so necessary for complete bodily health and vigor. Of course human beings and animals have always got vitamins in their foods if they were perfectly healthy, but only within recent years have we known of the existence and the necessity of these food elements. The knowledge has created a great deal of activity on the part of nutritionists and food manufacturers, who have thought that it was a good sales point to state that their foods were reinforced with vitamins.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I do not believe that this is necessary. All of us should and do get the vitamins we need in the form Nature intended us to take them. In our ordinary foods, I believe that the average American gets plenty of vitamins in an average diet. We have been told however by Surgeon-General Parran of the Public Health Service that forty per cent of the American public are suffering from vitamin starvation, and when some of us talk about an "average diet," we are asked sarcastically what an average diet is. That question is not so difficult to answer. An average diet is one that contains a raw fruit, berries or tomatoes, a glass of milk, an egg, butter, green vegetables, and meat at least twice a week. Even the meat may be omitted if an extra egg or other protein food is substituted.

Frequency of Vitamin Starvation

Now as to this vitamin starvation that is sweeping the country. I have been very skeptical of it because, in a large clinic, I do not see many cases and I have written to some of my friends to try to find out how frequent it is. I have figures from a large hospital in the East which takes care of a class of people that ordinarily would not be able to obtain a varied or expensive diet, and I am told that in the three years, 1938, 1939, and 1940 there were nearly 47,000 patients in that hospital, only 111 of whom were diagnosed as sick with vitamin deficiency. In a California hospital where the same class of people are cared for, there have been nearly 7,000 patients in the last three years and only 26 cases of vitamin deficiency of any kind diagnosed.

Vitamin B

We hear that there is a high incidence of Vitamin B deficiency in expectant mothers. One of my friends has gone over her records for me and has found in the ten years between 1929 and 1939, out of 16,649 mothers there has been no case of Vitamin B deficiency observed. In a large Chicago hospital during the last five years, 9,000 women have been cared for in the obstetrical department with two cases of neuritis which might be due to Vitamin B deficiency.

On the whole I feel that we can discount the scareheads about the number of vitamin-starved people in the United States. This, of course, does not mean that we can afford to relax in our efforts to provide well-balanced meals for everybody. These statistics simply show that the American people have learned the lesson of vitamins and are getting far better-balanced meals than the theoretical-minded nutritionists would have us believe.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. W.—Recently after an injury I had a patch of hair on my head shaved off. It came in curly. Should I have all the rest of the hair on my head shaved in order to avoid having permanent waves in the future?

Answer—I do not know, but I am sure a great many of my readers would like to obtain a permanent wave, and if you will make the experiment of shaving your entire head and let me know if the results are favorable, I will spread the news.

Youngstown Dog Census Profitable Business

YOUNGSTOWN, June 19. — A house-to-house canvass is profitable business for Mahoning county. Dog Warden Andy Pecchio revealed today.

For the first time in history, the county has run out of dog tags and Pecchio has ordered 1,500 more.

Eight hundred dog licenses have been sold in the two weeks that deputy dog wardens have been making the census.

Asks Wage Boost

ALLIANCE, June 19. — Ignored when city council voted substantial wage increases to virtually all hired and appointed municipal employees, the board of health today drafted an ordinance for consideration of council giving its employees a boost in salary.

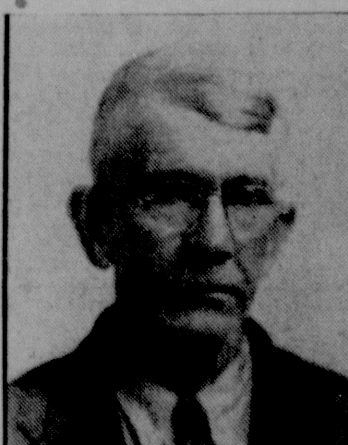

The salary ordinance passed gave waterworks employees their second increase of the year, bringing their wages to the pre-depression peak. Raises also went to police and firemen, city hall secretaries, the safety-service director, city engineer, street commissioner and hospital employees.

Wage changes will go into effect July 1.

CHARLES B. TRACY, SR.

"For two years I suffered from dreadful prostate and kidney trouble but have found blessed relief in TON JON No. 3," says Mr. Charles B. Tracy, Sr., of Bridgeport, Ohio, near Martins Ferry, and a Methodist church member.

"My nerves were in a constant upset condition and severe throbbing headaches bothered me. Agonizing pains were continually in my back, arms and legs and my joints and muscles were very stiff and sore. There was a terrible pain in the nape of my neck all the time. My sleep was greatly disturbed because I had to get up so often to relieve my kidneys of the discomfort."

"The day that I decided to try TON JON was certainly a lucky day for me. Since my troubles have been eliminated and my health restored, I feel 100 per cent better. I only hope that others in my former terrible condition will see my statement and give this wonderful TON JON a chance to help them as it has me."

The TON JON Health Representative is daily at Broadway-Lease Drug Store, Salem, Ohio. If you are sick and ailing you owe it to yourself to at least try TON JON.

Best friends were amazed in woman's improved looks... new energy... pep!

A marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, underweight, sluggishness and loss of appetite—all by two important steps—

Restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize your body with rich, red blood. Here's how!

If you are one of those unfortunate who have been ill, or have suffered with colds, the flu, worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, or have been vexed by overtaxing worries... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is good news for you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build back deficient blood strength... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Feel and look like yourself again

Yes, when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food... stomach digestive miseries should vanish. S.S.S. Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble and digestive form to restore your blood to its rich, red color... this makes for greater strength... color in your cheeks... resistance against disease attacks.

Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Make the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. You will be delighted with results. Scientific research shows that S.S.S. Tonic usually gets results. Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits it has brought to them—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." © S.S.S. Co.

CLEVELAND WOMAN SAVAGELY BEATEN

CLEVELAND, June 19.—Mrs. Anna Kupisz, 36, was found lying on a freshly tarred driveway in Brookside park early today, bound hand and foot and stripped of all her clothing except her shoes.

Hysterical and only partly conscious, she was taken to City hospital, where police attempted to learn her story.

It appeared, said Police Lieut. Wayne Sarge, that Mrs. Kupisz had left her home to go for an automobile ride with one or more men.

She had been forced to drink whiskey and then was beaten, he said, after which she was thrown from the automobile and rolled in the coating of tar and cresote until it covered her body.

Her husband, Lawrence Kupisz, 41, told officers that he and his wife had been setting on their front porch, and that when he returned from a brief visit to the kitchen she was gone.

Administration of Parks Criticized In Congress

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Criticizing the administration of national parks, Rep. Robert F. Jones, Lima, O., Republican, asserted today that park concessions are controlled by "the big railroads of the west" and "the railroads' puppets own the concessions." He said park visitors were compelled to pay exorbitant prices because of high salaries of officials and similar expenses.

Wheat Loan of $1.08 Is Assured Farmers

A wheat loan of $1.08 a bushel is assured Columbiana county farmers who have met acreage requirements under the AAA farm program, following approval of marketing quotas recently by more than 82 per cent of the nation's wheat growers, J. Glenn Bates, AAA chairman for Columbiana county, announced today.

In addition, farmers who overseed allotments will be eligible for loans at 60 per cent of the cooperator's rate on wheat produced on their excess acreage.

The loans are callable on demand and will be offered to farmers up to Dec. 31, 1941. Loans fall due on April 30, 1942, at 3 per cent interest.

Will Reach Parity Goal

"With farm loan values averaging $1.08 a bushel for Ohio, and with 1941 wheat parity and conservation payments, the program cooperator will receive a total return approximately equal to the parity price," Bates said. "In other words, wheat farmers this year are going to reach their goal of parity for the first time since the farm depression hit American agriculture in the early 20's."

With terminal and country elevator storage facilities taxed to capacity, farmers will be encouraged to hold wheat on the farm in approved storage. Farmers who do not have the necessary structures to house loan wheat will be eligible to receive an advance of seven cents a bushel for the number of bushels to be stored for the construction or repairing of adequate storage facilities, in addition to the $1.08.

"The loan," said Bates, "is one part of the wheat program that wheat farmers have used and can continue using to protect their income and provide orderly marketing of abundant supplies during the present emergency period."

was impractical now. They said that neither the money, the time, the men, nor the vast quantities of material needed was available. While oil barges have not been standardized in size yet, the most popular type has a capacity of 8,000 to 10,000 42-gallon barrels, and a good-sized oil town carries up to 35,000 barrels.

Barge Shipment More Expensive
Shipping by barge would be somewhat more expensive than by tanker or pipeline. The latter run from 12 to 15 cents a barrel from Texas to Bayonne, N. J., and the latest figures quoted a barrel from Texas to Bayonne, N. J., and the latest figures quoted from Baton Rouge to Pittsburgh by river were around 60 cents a barrel, although some oil companies are understood to be offering bonuses for quick shipment. Rail charges are quoted above $2.

Meanwhile, in Washington, executives of American companies who direct over two-thirds of the world's oil production met at the emergency call of the government to grapple with the problem of easing the predicted oil scarcity in the east.

They were challenged also to bring forward general "plans to further the effective utilization of our petroleum resources in the national emergency."

Interior Secretary Ickes, the defense petroleum coordinator, invited "all who believe they can contribute anything worthwhile" to attend, and the assembled representatives of the $12,000,000,000 industry were confronted by his statement that restrictions on pleasure use of automobiles along the eastern seaboard seemed "inevitable."

Death Comes To O.C. Vodrey, Former County Commissioner

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 19.—O.C. Vodrey, orchardist, former bank director and one time county commissioner and a descendant of one of East Liverpool's pioneer potters, died Tuesday night in City hospital following a short illness. He was 73.

Mr. Vodrey had been in failing health for several years, suffering from a weak heart.

Since his retirement from the Vodrey Pottery Co., about 20 years ago, Mr. Vodrey devoted his attention to his large orchard which he operated in St. Clair township northeast of Calcutta. The pottery in which he was interested suspended operations in 1925.

Born In E. Liverpool

He was a son of William H. Vodrey and Elizabeth Jackson Vodrey, and was born in East Liverpool, March 25, 1868.

Mr. Vodrey became a member of the board of county commissioners in November, 1933, when he was elected to succeed Roy Rinehart, who died in office. He served for about a year. In 1934 he was the Republican nominee. At another time he lost in the race for the nomination for the office. He was one of the commissioners during the remodeling of the county courthouse at Lisbon.

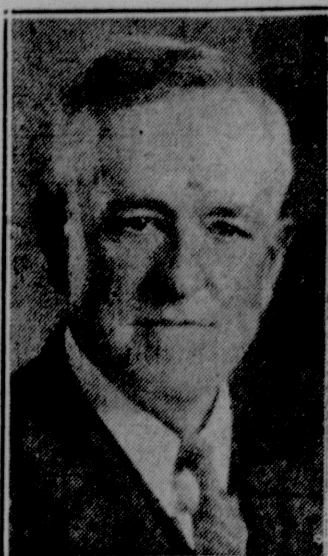

Mr. Vodrey served several years as a member of the board of education here. He also had been a member of the board of trustees of Bethany college at Bethany for several years.

Bank Organizer

He was one of the organizers and one of the first directors of the Dollar Savings Bank, now merged with the Pottery Bank and Trust Co. He was a former director in the First National bank. He was a member of the board of trustees of the First Church of Christ, serving as president of the board for many years.

He was a member of Riddle lodge 315, Masons; East Liverpool chapter 100, Royal Arch Masons, and Pilgrim commandary 55, Knights Templar.

Mr. Vodrey was married to Mrs. Ina Bowman on June 27, 1906, who survives him. He also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Vodrey Kress of Rochester, Pa.; a son, Oliver B. Vodrey with the United States air corps at Randolph Field, Tex.; one brother, W. H. Vodrey, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Vodrey Nease, both of East Liverpool, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Church of Christ by Rev. D. Park Chapman, pastor. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. Friends may call at the Arner funeral home.

This is the first time since 1925 that all 25 blast furnaces in this district have been operating.

Threatened On Three Sides

It previously had been indicated that Damascus was threatened from three sides by British-De Gaulle forces who pushed across the Syrian frontier 11 days ago.

A military spokesman at Jerusalem reported "a good deal of opposition" by defenders of the city as British, Free French and Indian troops closed in from the west, south and southeast.

Closest to the city was a column which occupied Mezza, a western suburb three and one-half miles from Damascus.

Continuous pressure also was being exerted along the front southeast of the capital at Jebel el Kelb-Hill of the Dog—the spokesman said.

Reports said a major British offensive probably would be launched today under the direct command of British Middle East Generalissimo Sir Archibald P. Wavell and that heavy British reinforcements had been sent into Syria and Iraq.

French forces holding Merdjayoun in the central sector about 40 miles southeast of Damascus were under heavy counterattacks.

Much of U. S. Newsprint Will Have to Be Imported

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 19.—John Traquair, director of research for Meade Corp., of Chillicothe, O., told the Southern Chemurgic conference yesterday the nation must import more than two-thirds of newsprint used by newspapers because "we do not have the raw material to manufacture this additional 2,500,000 tons of newsprint." He warned that the south's pine forests—store of raw material for paper—faced depletion through "the indiscriminate encouragement of new construction."

BOYS' STATE HAS TWIN BRITISHERS

COLUMBUS, June 19.—They're seeing double at the sixth annual Buckeye Boys' State these days. The reasons are Demond and Norman Parsons, 16, identical twins from war-torn Britain.

The pink-cheeked and blue-eyed blonds have only a slight English accent to distinguish them from the other 800 youths encamped on the Ohio State fairgrounds for a 10-day practical demonstration of democratic self-government under Ohio American Legion auspices.

Selected for scholarship and leadership in their various communities, the high school students have elected officers from Gov. Bob Hoskins of Middletown on down, established a legislature and are forming a home guard in the manner of adult citizens.

The twins ran for Supreme Court justices but were defeated in the two-party contest. Desmond subsequently became an assistant county treasurer and his brother a lawyer in another county.

The twins reached New York last October and a month later came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Koch in Cincinnati, where they completed their junior year in Withrow High school. They plan to remain until old enough to enlist in Britain's armed forces, preferably the Royal Air Force.

MUSIC SCHEDULED FOR CADIZ RALLY

At Least 13 High School Bands On Citizenship Day Program

There will be no lack of music at the fair grounds at Cadiz Saturday, when Governor John W. Bricker appears to highlight the program with an address on "Citizenship" for 13 and possibly 14 bands from the surrounding high schools will be on hand.

The governor's address will be delivered at 8 o'clock from the specially constructed speaker's platform in front of the grand stand at the fair grounds. His talk will be broadcast by radio station WSTV of Steubenville which will carry the entire text of the speech. The bands to be represented at the gala occasion, which is being sponsored by the State Employees league for the second successive year, will come from seven counties. It was announced by General Chairman J. A. Gordon.

Those already scheduled to appear include the groups from the high schools of the following: New Athens, Freeport, Hopedale, Belmont, New Philadelphia, Scioto, Jewett, Cadiz, Bowerston, Moorefield, Dover Junior and Senior High schools, Irondale and East Palestine.

One of the chief features which is to be provided by the bands will be a review at which time all the bands will march in review in front of the grand stand, Gordon said. The playing of this large group of bands will be but one of the many unusual features to be staged at the fair grounds at Cadiz Saturday. A program that will get under way early in the afternoon and run until well into the evening.

The entire program is expected to attract the largest gathering that has ever been assembled at the fair grounds at Cadiz, Chairman Gordon said.

Revise AAA Program To Boost Soybeans

A revision of the AAA farm program designed to hike production of soybeans for oil was announced today by J. Glenn Bates, chairman of the Columbiana county AAA committee.

Purpose of the change is to build vegetable oil stocks and to insure ample supplies for defense as well as normal supplies.

One revision in the AAA conservation program will enable farmers to increase their production of soybeans by harvesting in 1941 an acreage larger than the acreage harvested in 1940 without incurring deductions in the payments for the farm.

Applies to Soybean Farms

This provision, Bates said, will apply to most farms on which soybeans are now produced. However, in a few special cases where the 1940 acreage is not considered as representative for the farm the county AAA committee will establish an acreage as a basis for farming operations under the new provision. This will make it possible for some farmers to expand production who might otherwise be unable to, and to prevent unbalanced operations on other farms due to excessive plantings.

United States department of agriculture officials pointed out that the flow of supplies from some of the normal sources of fats and oils has been interrupted due to war conditions. Under these circumstances, they said, some increase in domestic production of fats and oils in 1941 may be necessary to provide a normal volume for consumption without a material reduction in stocks.

Not Expected To Be Serious

The situation is not expected to be serious in 1941-42 but department officials indicated that in view of national defense needs it was deemed advisable to take immediate steps to increase the production of soybeans this year.

Although a relatively strong market is expected to be maintained as a result of increasing domestic demand, the department will utilize its available resources to provide price support to AAA co-operators for soybeans. To insure a satisfactory price, the department of agriculture is recommending a loan of 85 per cent of parity or approximately $1 per bushel. Details of these measures will be announced later.

Conn Gambles, Tries To Match Punches And Loses To Joe Louis

COMES WITHIN ACE OF TAKING CROWN FROM BIG BOMBER

Pittsburgher Is Knocked Out In 13th Round In New York

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, June 19.—For fleeting, golden moments last night, Billy Conn of Pittsburgh held the heavyweight championship of the world within his grasp.

Then Billy gambled, tried to match punches with Joe Louis, and the big Negro snapped out of his strange lethargy and knocked Conn kicking in the 13th round before a thrilled crowd at the Polo Grounds.

Louis Looks Slow
Conn, the 174-pound gamster, was well in front when the end came, suddenly and unexpectedly. Louis, drawn too fine in his training, had looked a slow, sullen defender of the crown. Conn had danced around him for half the distance, tied him up in the clinches, then had come to slap the Bomber's teeth out.

At the end of the 11th round the Pittsburgh wonder boy had spread his mouth wide in a grin as he returned to his corner and waved triumphantly to the gallery stretching far back into the dark stands. He thought he was "in," and so did an amazed audience.

In the twelfth round, the slim handsome challenger sent Louis reeling against the ropes with a vicious two-fisted attack. Louis looked slow, unable to take advantage of the targets offered him. The more than 50,000 electrified fans in the big ball yard were only waiting, tensed, for the final bell of the fight and the announcement that the "winah and new champion" was Billy Conn.

Then the 13th round began. Louis came out, looking worried, and Conn rushed to meet him. From the challenger's corner blurted the warning cry: "Move around," as it had come from Conn's manager, Johnny Ray, from the opening bell on. But Billy was heedless. He went tearing to meet Louis.

Runs Into Hook
A left hook caught Billy along-side the head and staggered him. He fell into a clinch. Louis, finally aroused, poured everything he had into the boy from Pittsburgh. Five consecutive rights landed flush on Conn's jaw before he finally crumpled to the canvas. He was down, still trying to struggle with his knees, when the count of 10 came and Referee Eddie Joseph signaled that it was all over.

Then they half-carried the strapping back to his corner, the blood pouring from his nose and from a cut under his eye. He still had a smile on his lips, a kid full of courage and glory. Later he cried in his dressing room as though his head would break, but the last the crowd saw of him he was holding out his hand in congratulation to the Negro who had beat him down.

Seldom has a heavyweight fight crowd seen the scales of victory shift so suddenly. Up to the instant when Louis caught and downed his man, it looked as though Conn had made good his boast and be-dazzled the champion, a far bigger man. Louis, for all his 199½ pounds and his vaunted punch, had looked like a slothful, disgusted fighter up to the instant when he connected.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 19.—(The Special News Service).—By this time all of you know that Billy Conn lost his chance to win the world's heavyweight title by getting a little fresh with Mr. Big in the 13th round last night. . . . What some of you may not know is that the date for the next million-dollar gate will be sometime in September at the Yankee stadium. . . . If anybody ever laid the scene for what the fight mob call "a natural," the Messrs. Conn and Louis did it last night.

Here is the picture: Conn was leading what many believe to be the greatest fighter of our time by four rounds going into the 13th. . . . Then what happened? . . . Instead of stabbing, jabbing and boxing Louis into a state of utter bewilderment (which he was doing, our hero lost his head. . . . He decided to get in there and slug, then he got kissed—not once but several times—and before you could say Jack Robinson, all was over for Conn—except a rich return bout in September which Mr. Mike Jacobs obligingly will stage.

The Mourning Line
Unhappy guy in the house was Lou Nova. . . . He was in line for a September title shot, with either Louis or Conn, but things being what they are, he'll have to postpone his chance for at least a year. . . . Unless, of course, Abe Simon upsets the dope next month, which isn't likely.

Rounding Up The Strays
Glad to note peace and quiet have returned to the ranks of the warring Phillies. . . . Published reports of Billy Conn's marriage seem to have been a bit premature. . . . There was a humorous sidelight when Connie Mack was given his degree at Penn Military academy. The old gentleman was eulogized for a lifetime in the service of "football." All of which reminded Connie of the time he spoke at Long Beach, Calif., and referred to "your fair city of Pasadena."

Today's Guest Star
C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "Conn brought a 1941 record of three knockouts into the ring as his contribution to the most amazing fistic buildup in years. . . . He kayced such celebrities as Don Hassett, Gunnar Barlund and Buddy

SANITARY WINS AS RITCHIE HURLS TWO-HIT GAME, 7-0

Only 3 Men Reach First; Wright Allows 4 Hits To Give SWOC Win

Only three men reached first base as Dale Ritchie hurled the Sanitary to a two-hit 7-0 shutout of the Trades Class last night. Singles by J. Lutz and R. Lutz were the only hits of the game, though Holmes got to first by virtue of a walk. Pukalski, with two hits in three trips to the plate, led the Sanitary batting.

Wright held the Saxons to four hits and struck out six men as the S. W. O. C. nosed out an 8-7 win last night. Standout hitting performance of the game was the three-hit barrage by Thomas—two homers and a double in three trips to the plate.

For the first time this year no errors were chalked up by any of the four teams involved in the two games.

Blue Sox to Practice

The Salem Blue Sox will hold a business meeting at 6 p. m. practice at Tolerton field on Friday. Manager Joe Wukotich announced today.

Ed Head, ace hurler of the Montreal International league team, was a lefthanded twirler until he nearly lost his left arm in an automobile accident a few years ago. Now he burns them across with his right.

Remember Tony Musto—the unknown citizen who got in the way of the spotlight by getting in the way of Joe Louis' fists last winter? Well, he fought the other night in San Jose, Calif.

Knox. . . . All three rolled together would make a first-class heavyweight.

One-Minute Interview
Joe McCarthy: "Did I ever see a perfect ball player? Sure, Frank Frisch. . . . He could run, hit from either side, could throw, bunt and had a great competitive temperament. . . . He had everything."

Conn, On Brink of Title, Walks Into Knockout Punch

Billy Conn, the curly-haired youth who had the heavyweight title virtually jingling in his pocket until this moment in the 13th round, lies knocked out on the canvas at New York's Polo Grounds after walking into a punch that Louis, in desperation, shot out with neck-cracking force. A crowd of 54,487 fans paid an estimated $450,000 to witness this 18th title defense of Champ Joe Louis.

Inverness Tourney For $7,000 Opens

TOLEDO, June 19.—Off and running in a four-day gallop for gold and glory, 16 of the country's No. 1 professionals opened the seventh annual $7,000 Inverness invitational four-ball matches today.

There was little pressure on the eight pairs, for even the last eight placers were guaranteed $50 per day, plus expenses, for the duration. With a bit of diligence and skill they might, by finishing out front, hoist their daily "take" to close to $200 per day, for the first place twosome will split $1,500.

Par was expected to take a terrific beating, as usual, in the best ball classic, with at least 20 birdies and several eagles being snared in the seven rounds of match play. Today's round scheduled these matches: Lloyd Mangrum and Harold (Jug) McSpaden vs. Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan; Sam Byrd and Johnny Bulla vs. Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta; Clayton Haefer and Dick Metz vs. Ralph Gu'dahl and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison; and Horton Smith and Lawson Little vs. Jimmy Thomson and Byron Nelson.

Under the Inverness scoring plan, the team winning a hole gets a "plus," while the loser gets a "minus." At the finish of the tourney, the team with the greatest plus takes down the top prize and the others taper off to where the last placers divided $400.

After today's single round, which follows a clinic in which the 16 starters will display their skill at

FEROCIOUS TRIBE UNLEASHES BATS TO SWAMP A'S, 14-2

Bob Feller Hangs Up Win No. 14, Allowing Only Four Hits

(By Associated Press)
The Cleveland Indians suddenly have become ferocious at the plate and look capable of gobbling up the lesser lights of the American league in big gulps.

All that has kept the Tribe from making a runaway of the pennant race before now has been weak hitting and, everything considered, they have been doing right well with their tap and touch system.

Finally Open Up

Yesterday, however, they really opened up—getting 17 hits, including five home runs and four doubles, to overwhelm the Philadelphia Athletics, 14-2. They scored seven runs in a rousing second inning and kept pouring on the power right on through the game. Hal Trosky hit two home runs and Lou Boudreau, Ray Mack and Ken Keltner one apiece.

This display of fireworks was accompanied by a four-hit pitching performance by Bob Feller, who coasted to his 14th victory of the campaign.

The Indians' first place margin was increased to three full games as the Chicago White Sox trimmed the New York Yankees by one run for the second day in succession, 3-2. The Tribe finishes the series with the A's today with Jim Bagby opposing Bill Beckman.

The Detroit Tigers tore into the Boston Red Sox for a 5-2 victory behind the steady, eight-hit hurling of Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, who gave up only one extra-base blow, a homer by Jimmie Fox.

The St. Louis Browns squeezed out a 3-2 verdict over the Wash-

"THE GORGON'S MASK"

by Van Wyck Mason

CHAPTER FOURTEEN
"Where are you going?" the man asked.
North started, as in his ears sounded the sibilant swish of silk rubbing on silk.
"To the library for cigarettes. No, don't get up—get on with your work. Lord knows there's enough to be done before morning."

"That matter of Teodora and the Floating Lily is—"
Instantly Nadia Stefan's voice cut in. "Be quiet, Josef!"
Teodora? Floating Lily? North engraved those three words in his memory while he slipped into the closet he had already noted.

Squirming in deep among some fragile and deliciously scented garments, he stood poised and alert, when the bright oval of the closet keyhole told him that a light had been snapped on.

"Yes, Josef," the girl called Nadia was insisting. "I have a distinct sense of hurt and disappointment in Captain North. He left a bit of talcum on the rug and a speck more on his trousers, and tomorrow he'll wonder how I found his hiding place."

"I wonder if you are quite right, Comrade Commander," objected the other. "Before Aristide La Tour—er, retired—he used to say this Captain North was the cleverest secret agent in both the Americas—and if you recall, Monsieur La Tour never dealt out his praise with a shovel."

North's heart began to throb like a voodoo drum as he detected the noise of footsteps wandering about the library.
Nadia was only partially successful in smothering a yawn. "La Tour wasn't smart enough to make his brain rule his heart. But he died well—and few of us can do that."

In the stuffy blackness North stiffened a little. . . . So another famous figure in international espionage had reached the end of the trail!
His speculation was terminated by the sound of approaching footsteps; his thumb threw off the safety catch of his pistol when a hand closed on the closet door-knob.

"You must get that lock fixed tomorrow," the girl remarked. "It looks so bad when I have callers," and to his dying day North never forgot her next words: "You see, Josef, I am expecting someone here tonight."

"Who? Not Clark?"
"No, Josef." Nadia's voice was almost purring now. "Wilson Clark is kaput, as they used to say in the war days. He's . . . liquidated."

"Who, then?"
"The great Captain North, himself."

"North?" The other gasped. "Bogus! Shall I post the other bed? They're in the kitchen."
"No, Josef."

"But what, Comrade Commander—how?"

From amid a maelstrom of unpleasant emotions North heard that rich, low-pitched laugh ringing out again. "Oh, Josef, sometimes I despair of you! Subtlety, man—that's what you must have to play this game. Very simple. He thought that I thought he drank the drug I put in his glass. But I know he didn't; he only pretended to swallow."

North's mouth felt unbearably dry; he could feel the perspiration breaking out on the backs of his hands, and for once a great fear was on him.

There was no doubt that Death crouched ready to pounce. Death—no half measures! The game was too vital to admit of any other penalty for his imbecility. Death—and he who had viewed death hundreds of times wondered what it would be like to die, to feel life ebbing away.

"Yes, my dear Josef,"—only as from afar he heard her mocking accents—"I think we have not done badly tonight. After I have done with him I will make you and the others a present of this so clever Captain Hugh North. But—please!—I fear we are keeping him waiting. Unless my ears deceive me, he came in about three minutes ago."
"Come in!"
"Yes, You will find the clever Captain in that closet!"

As a drowning man sees, feels, and remembers an incredible number of things in one brief instant, so Captain Hugh North's brain was whizzing as he found himself adroitly and inextricably at the mercy of Nadia Stefan. Before his mind's eye flashed visions of great gray steel ships belching shattering broadsides, of myriad mangled men gasping . . . all because he had committed the gravest of all errors in the game of international espionage: that of underestimating an opponent's intelligence.

The rivulet of sweet flooding his eyes and the maddening tickle of a rough tweed coat against his cheek suddenly sobered him in time to hear the Russian girl's voice saying: "At first, Comrade Josef, I thought I would kill him in his room—just a drop of prussic in his drink, or something like that. Very sure, very safe, but there was always a chance that someone might blunder by."

"And so," cut in Josef, "you brought our friend here for his—er—exit?"
"Exit? No!" the girl objected abruptly. "I—I have been thinking this Captain North, he is very nice looking; he is also sensible. Perhaps there will be no need to kill him."

As a result of this abrupt volte-face, North found himself in a delicate dilemma. Had she meant that last? Or was it merely a subtle insurance against a furious, if eventually suicidal, resistance?

He must, he told himself, get a grip on his emotions—the duel with this remarkable girl would not be over until—well, until it was really a case of sayo-nara (good-bye), as she so tactfully put it. He might as well, he told himself, acquire as much face as possible—Russians were Orientals at heart—so he returned the automatic to its holster and wiped his streaming forehead.

"Captain North?" That voice beyond the closet door was soft now, but singularly incisive. Yes, soft like the paw of a feline which, in a trice, can become a steel-tipped weapon of death.

For a moment he decided to remain silent—perhaps something of her true intent could be learned.
"Please come out. Surely you would not be so cruel as to disappoint me?"

North's heart began to gallop. . . . "Why don't you answer? Josef will not hurt you if you come out with your hands up. Otherwise—" The voice outside the panel fairly purred. "I hope you are not going to force me to violence, for mon cher Capitaine, I abhor violence."

He still remained silent. . . . Suddenly beyond the door panels, something cracked like a very dry stick which is snapped.
In the hot, suffocating darkness North felt an icy finger tracing the length of his spine.

"Revolver and silencer," he told himself as he noted the appearance of a little round hole in the upper panel of the closet door.

"One over," remarked the man outside, "then one short." He shot again and, because the silencer reduced the pistol's report to a mere metallic snap, North heard a bullet smack into the floor.

"You see, Captain," checked the man Josef, "once I was an artilleryman. Now I will start—how you say it?—walking through the bracket? First one at the knees, then—"

The girl uttered a sudden laugh, strident and unmusical. "Oh, go ahead and kill the fool, Josef! I thought he had some intelligence."

Faced with those two significant bullet holes, North surrendered with, "No need, my friends! I'm convinced. If you'll unlock the door I'll come out and complete Mademoiselle Stefan's program for the evening."

Outside the man spoke roughly. "Look out, little comrade Nadia! Stay out of line with the door. These Americans sometimes are crazy!"

Chillingly contemptuous was her retort. "Not this man; he wants to remain alive."

Then North, his white suit wrinkled and wet with perspiration, stepped out of the closet to be blinded by the glare of a desk lamp, carefully arranged to bring about just that result. For the moment he could see nothing of his captors. Feeling uncommonly foolish, the intelligence captain remained motionless, hands raised on a level with his shoulders and trying to look unconcerned.

In the gloom behind that blinding glare someone laughed a cruel, mocking laugh.

"Josef, permit that I present you to the great Captain Hugh North, D. I. C."
"D. I. C.," corrected the prisoner with a grin. "Department of Criminal Investigation!" he stressed with some sarcasm.
Josef murmured ironic pleasure and the girl laughed before saying, "Accept my apologies, please, Josef, would you mind putting these handcuffs on the wrists of the great American detective?"

The girl's towering companion obeyed promptly. Oddly, perhaps,

North became aware of an urge to see more of this dominant, singular woman—sometimes when his hands were not secured with handcuffs of bright chromium steel. Besides, he wanted to investigate that "Floating Lily" business. "Teodora," too—was she the murdered girl?

There was no doubt after his first glance that Josef was a Russian. His were jet, faintly up-slanting Mongoloid eyes, broad Tartar cheekbones, and a pointed skull crowned with a crest of black hair.

Josef stepped back and, at Nadia's signal, switched on the room lights.
"You came," began Nadia Stefan, "to recover the little scroll which you stole from that poor girl?" as Josef was searching the American agent.

"You are too modest, mademoiselle," North smiled. "The truth is,

I was so charmed with your acting that I couldn't resist the temptation of continuing so pleasant a conversation."

"Merci—what a graceful falsifier you are! But," she shrugged a little—"being a woman, I—well, I like flattery and the way you say it—sounds almost convincing."

He could sear her now very plainly: a straight, supple, and infinitely menacing figure, a silenced revolver in her hand.
"I mean it—you have nerve," she commented, and all the while her great eyes, no longer masked by Miss Belknap's spectacles, studied his heated features. "In Russia you would go far."

"About as far as La Tour, I suppose."
"No, I really mean it," Nadia Stefan insisted.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's!
